David Reynolds, right, acting chairman of the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission, faced a crowd of more than 200 city and county residents Wednesday in Bay High School's new auditorium at a public hearing concerning two proposed zoning amendments. The amendments, if passed unaltered, will extend city zoning authority into the Bay of St. Louis and will include dockside casino structures and activities in the permitted uses for commercially zoned property. Also present were commission members (from left) Alice Holmes, Calvin Smith, Robert Weaver, Barbara Brodtmann and Kevin Fitzpatrick (Echo staff photo by Traci Bonney)

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission gotmore than it planned for at a Wednesday public hearing — more meeting attendance and more opposition to a proposed zoning amendment.

The meeting originally con-yened at the Mississippi Power Company auditorium but moved to Bay High School's new auditorium when some of the more than 200 people attending the hearing said the lack of space and public address system was unacceptable.

After completing the location change, David Reynolds, acting chairman of the committee, explained the planning and zoning committee's role and function, as well as the purpose and format of the public

He also told the audience that the language of the second proposed amendment had been slightly altered late Wednesday in order to restrict accepted casino facilities to water-based operations.

Reynolds reminded those present that the committee was ing ordinance amendments. The first would extend city zoning authority to the county line in the Bay of St. Louis, thereby allowing regulation of any structures in the Hancock County side of the bay. The second would include Gaming Control Act to allow them, city officials added the word "afloat," changing the amendment to read ...and all activities permitted and authorized affoat by the Mississippi Gaming Control Act of 1990, together with all amendments and revisions thereof."

While the change in wording allayed some fears about the city's becoming a land-based gambling town, most of the opinions expressed still opposed Section 604-1-24. Of the approximately two dozen people who took the microphone to voice their views, only three supported both amendments.

FRANCKIEWICZ OPINION Senafor Vic Franckiewicz spoke early in the meeting. He did not express an opinion, but raised several questions he said the committee needs to consider before approving any ordinance amendments.

BY JACQUI COCHRAN Future waste, present waste and the collection of that waste was discussed during the first meeting of the new year for the Waveland Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Stella Frilot informed the board Tuesday night that garbage disposal was to cost the city an additional $5 per tonnage due to a price increase by the Pecan Grove landfill in Pass Christian, The city has been paying $15 per ton.

The board was told by Frilot that the city has three trucks for waste collections, one of which is used strictly for debris.

She stated the county landfill, which accepts the trash collections, does not accept roofing material, tires or refrigerators with the doors still attached.

She explained residential land clearings were costly to the city, in that city employees were being occupied for hours, and in some cases days, in the removal of debris.

As an example of time waste, Frilot said, "People will rake leaves in a pile and then call the city to collect them. They need to know that we do not mind collecting their trash, but it would help to save time if they could put it in some sort of container."

Frilot said more cooperation from the residents in trash col-lections would save the city money in the long run. Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman asked the board to consider a curbside récycling program as a solution to future concerns, board that the new furnace at Fire Station No. 1 was installed Frilot told Weidman the initial cost to begin a recycling and operating.

She said the lights at the Elwood Bourgeois practice field would be up by April 1 and the program was extremely expensive. "This is one of the things I will be looking into when I go to Washington this month. I intend to check into possible federal funding to initiate a recycling program."

Frilot will travel to Washington, D.C. in mid-January, at no cost to the city. She intends to investigate various federal funding programs which may be applied to benefit Waveland.

At the request of resident Yvonne Landry, the board approved the changing of St. Anthony Street to one way traffic, south to north, from Jeff Davis to St. Joseph.

Nelson: Zoning compliance required by tidelands lessees

BY TRACI BONNEY

The question of state pre emption of local laws briefly came into the spotlight during a public hearing Wednesday as local residents voiced their opinions about proposed zoning amendments.

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission held the hearing to allow public input before making any recommendations to the city council about two amendments that would extend zoning authority into the bay and include dockside casinos as a permitted property use in commercial Senator Vic Franckiewicz, one of the first to take the microphone, pointed out a need for between them in this area, but well-defined, detailed regulations concerning gambling operations when he said that state law pre-empts local law, according to an opinion given by an assistant attorney general. This means that local land use could be influenced or even determined by state law if there is not adequate local control, he added.

On the other hand, he continued, most state agencies will respect local zoning ordinances.

Assistant Secretary of State Jim Nelson said Friday that only the attorney general's office has the authority to interpret statutes and conflicts as far as zoning is concerned, that is now covered in tidelands

Nelson said that since Dick Molpus became secretary of state in 1984, standard tide-lands lease language has included the following clause: "Lessee shall comply with any and all applicable federal, state, county or city building codes, building requirements, safety or conservation regulations, fire codes, ordinances, pollution standards or zoning regulations,"

"We require compliance with local zoning laws or we won't issue a lease," Nelson stated.

A total loss

Firefighters with the Bay St. Louis Fire Department responded to a 911 call at 12:08 a.m. January 2 to find the home of Chris Lagarde, 203 Citizen Street, engulfed in flames. Chief Andrew Lizana reported Assistant Chief Mike Willumitus and firefighters Louis Pre-ndergast, Richard Trudell and Joseph McMillan, assisted by others, knocked down the blaze in approximately two minutes. The fire appeared to have started around the vent from a wood heater, according to Lizana, who ruled the fire accidental: County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh was also consulted. Lagarde was not at home at the time of the blaze. One of his black labrador retrievers perished in the fire, while another remained safe. Persons wishing to have fireplaces or wood heaters checked for safety may call the fire department at 467-5151. (Echo staff photo by Janet McQueen)

Franckiewicz said that most state agencies respect local zoning ordinances, but the possibility exists that state regulations may pre-empt local ones in some cases. He explained that this could take land use regulation out of local officials' hands.

However, he also said the Gaming Control Act does not regulate many aspects of dock-side gambling operations. These matters must be handled at a local level, Franckiewicz stated.

He raised two issues that he believed to be vital to the city's control of zoning. First, he said, the city needs other regulations for gambling operations in addition to those that govern "regular" businesses such as offices and stores.

Gambling is not like other businesses. There are factors to consider that don't occur with other businesses," he stated. Second, Franckiewicz said, the language of the proposed amendments only allows for the regulation of structures such as docks, marinas and piers. It doesn't give the city the authority to effectively halt abuses of permitted uses.

He suggested the committee recommend adoption of the first amendment — the one extending zoning authority into the bay — as an interim measure while the committee develops detailed regulations for dockside gambling facilities. These regulations are vital, he said. because "state law doesn't protect the local community from the local impact of gambling coming into the area."

LOCAL ISSUES

Franckiewicz listed several factors to consider, maximum vessel size, the establishment of buffer zones, traffic control, parking facilities, tour bus access, security, lighting, signage, ingress and egress safety, wharf construction and hurricane evacuation.

"These are all totally open questions that the state doesn't cover at all, and I think they should be covered locally."

Franckiewicz suggested that the committee create a separate zoning category for gambling establishments. This would allow the committee to establish controls tailored to the unique aspects of the gambling

Keller, who spoke both from the audience and at the microphone, received mixed reactions from her comments. From her seat in the center front row, she asked whether the committee and city residents should be more concerned about offshore developments or by onshore businesses that may stem from gambling activities, such as pawn shops. She commented that the appearance and character of Main Street and other parts of the historic district may be more greatly affected by the offshoot businesses that develop than from the casino ships themselves.

While this remark was well received, one Keller made at the microphone was not.

Keller, who spoke near the end of the session, said, "What I see here is an elitist attitude. and it's impertinent." She told those attending the

I hope the occupant of the vehicle I saw parked at the edge of the Hancock County Walking Track on Thursday was not doing what I am inclined to think he was.

It was about 10 a.m. I was on my way to the post office when I passed the vehicle, which had "State Highway Department" stenciled on its door.

I know there has been talk about some concerned officials wanting to get a signal light at the intersection of Highway 90 and Drinkwater Road. I sure hope a traffic census was not being taken in the rain; as it was raining when I saw the state vehicle.

A good portion of the traffic at the intersection is caused by folks using the Walking Track and not too many do their exercise during a rain storm, especially during the winter months.

As most of you know by now, the National Guard Unit from Bay St. Louis left Fort Benning, Ga., yesterday morning via plane for Operation Desert Shield.

The wife of Sgt. Overall sent us a copy of a news story, written by Wanda G. Reynolds of Fort Public Affairs and appearing in the Army Flier, which tells about the 1355th and its training

The articles refers to the number of Ladners in the National Guard Service and Support Company and also about the number of family members serving with the Bay St. Louis/Ocean Springs Guardsmen.

Many of the Guardsmen have left spouses, children, grandchildren, grandparents, mothers, fathers, cousins, aunts, uncles and friends, and I know many members of the 1355th.

We need to remember to keep all of our men and women in uniform in our prayers, and pray that they will return home safe and sound.

Tornadoes, flooding marred holidays for many Mississippians

The Christmas holiday of 1990 will not soon be forgotten. As much as it was a time of joyous celebration, for many Mississippians, it was a time of devastating disasters.

It was also a time of people helping people cope with the severity of tornadoes, storms and flooding.

To see so many people reaching out to their fellow citizens at a time of crisis epitomized the spirit of the season: It likewise showed the warmth of the people of our state in the face of terrible adversity.

After speaking to many of those affected by the rash of tornadoes, the floods caused by overburdened river banks and the disasters that accompanied those events, it became apparent that Mississippians are a strong people, And they deserve our assistance.

The volunteers, neighbors and emergency management officials that were on hand, 24-hours-a-day, deserve our thanks and commendations for their tireless help.

As of this writing, our office is working with the federal government, trying to secure help for those who felt the brunt of

Unit System proves to be more costly, less effective

To the Editor:

The Unit System has been in effect since October 1, 1986. The news media, who endorsed the Unit System, has failed to keep the public apprised of how the system has worked.

I receive the Sun-Herald and the Sea Coast Echo, and I have never seen, in either paper, anything to inform the citizens of how the Unit System is

At the time the Unit System was proposed, newspaper arti-cles stated if the supervisors would support the Unit System it would work in saving the taxpayers' money. Hancock County has five new supervisors and a millage rate at continues to climb. In the 1986-87 fiscal year the millage to operate the entire county was 66.84 mills, and now the 1990-91 millage schedule is 127+ mills to do the same.

The Road and Bridge millage in 1986 was 2.88 mills and now in 1990 it is 4.15 mills; the R&B construction in 1986 was 1.64 mills and now in 1990 it is 2,35

In 1989, the board issued bonds in the amount of 1.6 million dollars to construct and reconstruct roads and bridges (1.94 mills).

The board also transferred in excess of $600,000 to compensate their R & B account.

I was opposed to the Unit System. My opposition was not based upon personal feelings. It was based upon my understanding of county operation gained through 24 years experience as a county supervisor.

I feel like changes to the old system of operation were needed. I believe the county should have centralized purchasing with a purchasing clerk and a receiving clerk.

I agree with taking this responsibility away from the supervisors, but what I do not agree with is taking the supervisors out of the responsibility of maintaining roads and bridges and managing of their employees.

The present system of operation in Hancock County (the Unit System) is a very costly one and will continue to produce increased taxes.

As a concerned taxpayer, I challenge the citizens of Hancock County to take a close look at the Unit System and deter-mine for themselves if the system is working.

Goodwill grateful for local support

Dear Editor.

A sincere thanks from Good-will Industries of South Mississippi Inc. for your assistance in helping us get a handle on our "trash" problem.

The pile of useless/unsellable items at our Goodwill store has been greatly reduced since your article bringing our problem to the citizenry of the Bay-Waveland area.

The community as been very supportive of goodwill's mission of providing jobs for people with disabilities and bargains for the general public.

However, since Goodwill is no longer able to repair large items (furniture and large appliances), we can no longer accept these items as donations.

It is quite costly to haul them off and pay the cost of the disposal Goodwill welcomes the donetion of clothing, household items, and useable furniture at items, and useable, nurniture at its store in the Bay St. Louis Mall Monday through Sathirday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Goodwill issues receipts on these items and these receipts may be used for tax purposes.

Thanks to the Sea Coast Reho and the cooperation of the Bay-Waysland, community, our job has become easier and more productive. Happy New Year!

Sincerely.

U.S. Customs Service agents Friday unloaded some $64-$70 million worth of marijuana from an ocean-going tug along Custom Service docks at Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park near Pearlington. The vessel joined a fleet of 20 craft confiscated by authorities in the current war against mari-juana smugglers in the Gulf of Mississippi and Louisiana coasts. A Customs Service official Friday said his department has been plagued at Port Bienville by persons in small boats attempting to board the confiscated vessels in hopes of finding weed.

Henry Otis, Hancock County registrar of voters, said new automatic machines have saved his office a lot of time and energy in counting election returns the past year. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez, Miss. The Most Reverend will celebrate a Pontifical High Mass for the occasion. Those receiving ordination to the priesthood are; the Reverends Leander Martin, S.V.D., of Grand Coteau, La.; George Wilson, S.V.D., of New York City, Maxine Williams, S.V.D., of Bay St. Louis; and Richard Winters, S.V.D., of Pleasantville, N.J.

Master Curtis Favre, son of Clerk of Courts and Mrs. A.G.

Favre, recently appointed a page in the 77th Congress, will leave Bay St. Louis this Saturday night over the L&N Railroad for Washington, D.C. to assume his duties Monday morning. He will be accompanied by his father, who will remain in Washington until the inauguration, visiting both Senator Pat Harrison and Congressman Bill Colmer, personal friends. Curtis Favre, who has been connected with The Echo for the past two years, will be replaced by his brother, Nelius.

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County to be delivered to the Clerk of the Board not later than 11 o'clock A.M. on Monday, January 6, 1941, for furnishing to Hancock County one boat to be used as tender for the dredge boat. Said boat is to be 42 ft. in length, with a beam of 13-1/2ft, and a draft of 30 inches, and to be of lugger type, and to be equipped with 105 H.P. lycoming engine with a reduction ar. Said boat is to have sleeping quarters for four persons. A.G. Favre, Clerk, Board of Supervisors, Hancock County, Miss.

JANUARY 3, 1914
—Gulfport, Miss., Jan. 2—When Mrs. Pauline Nissenson, an aged lady residing in Bay St. Louis, heard that the cruiser Ches. ter, bearing Envoy Lind, was coming to Ship Island, near Gulfport, she came here and made earnest and tearful requests of Congressman Harrison that permission be granted her son either to come ashore or that she be allowed to board the Chester, that she might hold him in her arms once more before she died. "It is three years since I have seen my son," she said. "My health is fast failing, and I may not get another chance to see him." When the tug approached within fifty feet of the Chester it was stopped and word was passed by the officer of the deck that no one would be permitted to board or leave the Chester. The son, however, made his appearance at the rail, called solicitously to his mother, inquiring of her health and the old home which he had left. Mrs. Nissenson was overcome and, falling against the rail of the tug, had to be supported until she could regain her composure. During the interval, John Lind, personal representative of the President, stood calmly on the deck of the Chester, witnessing the incident without comment. So pathetic was the figure of mother and son that tears came to the eyes of attaches of the tog boat. The aged woman came back to Gulfport feeling greatly disappointed and in broken words of French and English bemoaned her fate and the embrace of the lad she reared and was so closely attached to. She was profuse in her thanks to the Congressman and the officers of the tug, however. An effort may be made to get her story to President Wilson and have him on her behalf, possibly to the granting a furlough to her sailor son.

Louise Patrick, the well-known praline woman, has returned to Bay St. Louis from Pass Christian and is again selling her well-known products. Orders of gumbo file, "cala tout chaud" will receive prompt attention. adv.

The Board of Supervisors must bear in mind, that Honorable A.G. Stevenson is the only man in Hancock County that can qualify for the office of superintendent of education for this county. The fact that he was defeated in the election should make no difference since his opponent was an illegal candidate, holding no license at the time, nor since, to authorize his candidacy.

His eyes blazed with a fire eminiscent of Louis Farrakhan's. His tone of voice, too, carried the same impassioned, feverish pitch which has become the latter's trademark. As a matter of fact, the diatribe itself was worthy of a Farrakhan.

I proclaim to you as a Roman Catholic priest, at this time, and as an African-American man that the Roman Catholic Church has not been true to its words," he told his congregation of St. Theresa and the Child

The Church? It is I, It is you. It is we. It is all of us together,

If George and Glenn brand me, Jerome, dysfunctional, they will be as correct as I am in labeling them dysfunctional; for we all are. The only thing we don't know is who exceeds whom in deficiency.

There is no Catholic, nor any member of Imani or any other

Jesus in New Orleans after the 11 a.m. Mass on Dec. 2, supposedly his last as a Roman Catholic priest.

"The Roman Catholic Church operates as a sick and unhealthy institution. It attempts to control the very existence and essence of our lives. It has used, misused and abused our people and our people's spirits." (It is) ... "a dysfunctional

This may or may not have been Glenn's last Mass as a Roman Catholic priest, since his "last"—or penultimate— Mass took place in 1981 when he left the Catholic Church for the first time to form his own short-lived church. Obviously, he had since then requested, and been granted, reinstatement in the Catholic Church.

Let me state unequivocally that I agree with every word spoken by Glenn Jeanmarie. However, I disagree 100 percent with his conclusions and applications.

Racism Drives Priest Away From Catholicism," the head-lines read. Had our post-slavery black forebears followed that wimpish sequence, they would have all been driven out of this country, back into the sea, back into Africa.

I agree 100 percent with the charges because they have all been substantiated t again throughout history.

At one disastrous point, authorities in the Church even equivocated about the practice of slavery. I especially agree with the charge that the Church is a dysfunctional family. It certainly is. It definitely has been. Undoubtedly, it will always be to some extent.

The reason is not hard to find at all. It will be dysfunctional as long as it is human. The Catholic Church is but the sum total of millions of families, all of which are partially dysfunctional. As much as I love my own family, I certainly include it.

The words of Isaiah ring in our ears: "Oh Lord, you are our Father, we are the clay and you the Potter: we are the work of your hand" (Is. 64: 7). Without the Master Potter, none of us is anything but an unsightly, dirty lump of clay. Until the Master has completed molding, making and firing us, we will remain a partially dysfunctional blob of clay-and that in some ways till our dying

"He can run, but he can't hide," Joe Louis said prophetically of an opponent who was known to use the ring for a racetrack. In like manner, I say to Glenn Jeanmarie and to his mentor, G. Augustus Stallings: you can run from racism in the Catholic Church, but you can-not hide from it, because it is systemic in our society; it is literally everywhere, virtually global.

To strike the most personal note of all, the greatest irony is that, beyond a doubt, Imani Temple is dysfunctional, and all evidence indicates that it is far more dysfunctional than the Catholic Church which it purports to slough.

And who or what is the Catholic Church? Surely, George and Glenn are referring to the top managers of the ecclesio-political establishment of the Catholic Church.

. However, they are both well aware that the Church is far more than the Pope, the cardinals, the bishops, the priests, the religious, or even just the white Catholics: and rightly so, because we are all-dysfunctional.

Frankly, Glenn has jumped ship to board another which is leakier and more dysfunctional then the one he is leaving. I am sure that neither he nor George likes the implication of running, because that sounds like weakness and/or cowardice. As a matter of fact, it is. Our greatest leverage is within this ship

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

It's back to the basics, the simpler "comfort foods" for many cooks after the feasting and partying and richer than rich foods of the holiday time. I find myself hungry for soups and stews and mashed potatoes and all that sort of old-fashioned simple cookery.

You'll find all sorts of choices at our area supermarkets at good after-the-holiday prices. For a big pot of soup, there are specials on boneless beef chuck roasts and steaks, for example, as well as beef briskets, for a good vegetable-beef soup. Or, you might prefer the whole fryers or chicken leg quarters or drumsticks for a tasty chicken soup. (Or, you might cook the beef or chicken some other way than soup.)

Dry beans are another good buy, as are potatoes. A hearty bean soup is one of my favorite dishes, especially in winter-time, and I enjoy potato soup or a steaming bowl or mug chowder in wintertime, an icy-cold soup in the summer.

Enough of my preferenceschoose your own special favo-rites! But, if you'd like to try a SENATE

BEAN SOUP It's a tradition of long standing in our nation's capital, listed on the menu of the Senate and House restaurants day in, day out, rain or shine or heat or snow. It was so decreed many years ago, just after the turn of the century, when the Speaker of the House, the late Joseph Cannon of Illinois, found that. no bean soup had been stirred up one hot summer day in the House restaurant.

He insisted that the bean soup be served every day from that time on in the House restaurant. The soup was added, in slightly different version, to the Senate menu as

3 medium onions, chopped 2 garlic cloves, minced celery ribs, chopped

Pepper and salt to your taste Cover the beans with water and let them soak overnight, then drain and toss them into a soup kettle or other heavy petalong with a couple of quarts or more of water and the ham bone or ham hocks. Bring to a fast oil. then turn the heat down and simmer for at least two hours in the pot, adding water if necessary.

Stir in the onions, garlic and celery and pepper and salt, and simmer awhile until the beans are tender. (6 to 8 servings) good buys just now, as are whole smoked picnics, Boston Butts and pork steaks.

In addition to the special buys on potatoes, pasta of all sorts is also offered, especially the medium or thin spaghetti. For a quicker than quick meal, put a pot of spagnetti on to cook and stir up a quick and spicy sauce while it's cooking. Chop up some fresh tomatoes, drizzle a garlicky olive oil sauce over and ladle over the pasta. Heap Parmesan cheese atop it all!

Here's how I shall use some of the potatoes from the sack full potatoes I bought:

POTATO GALETTE 4 slices bacon 1/3 cup finely chopped onion

. 1 Tblsp. chopped fresh oregano or 1/2 tsp. dried oregano. 1 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. freshly ground

Twentieth Star NS DAR

By Joe Williams Pilet

It is our custom to celebrate New Year's Day with fireworks and joyous noise. New Year fell on Tuesday and we recall this is the month of Janus. According to Roman mythology, Janus is depicted as having two faces. One in the front and one in the back of his head.

The entire month of January when having 31 days was said sacred. A time of looking forward to the future and backward to contemplate that which has passed.

In a review of the past we will recall that on Jan. 1, 1863, Lincoln issued the famous Emancipation in which he stated: "All persons held as slaves are and henceforth shall be free."

Then the people of the United States added three amendments to the Constitution. The first states that the Negro is a free man. The next declared he was a citizen, and the third gave him the right to vote.

Looking back to the 128 years past, it was thought by many that the right to vote was a mistake because these freed men could neither read or write and had no experience in political

It would have been better, they reasoned, if education be a requirement prior to voting. Every effort is now being made to educate our citizens.

There are public schools for our young, and classes for adult education in the hopeful belief that education of our citizens is the proper and necessary approach toward a more efficient and more democratic environment.

So let us join Janus with face looking forward. Let's make a New Year's Resolution! Perhaps we might be guided by Benjamin Franklin who said: "If time be of all things most precious wasting time must be the greatest prodigality since lost time is never found again, and what we call time enough always proves little enough. Let us then be up and doing and doing to a purpose.' Let us make 1991 a Happy New Year.

Free river birches offered by foundation

Ten free river birch trees will conditions and temperature be given to each person who fluctuations." oins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"River birches will add yearround beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the foundation's executive director, said. "Their cinnamoncolored, exfoliating bark and informal appearance give a natural look to a garden or planted area. River birches are pest resistant and can withstand a wide range of moisture

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Feb. 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Girl Scouts begin annual fundraiser

Special to the Echo The Gulf Pines Girls Scout Council is welcoming the new year by conducting its annual cookie sale. Bay-Waveland Girl Scouts will be taking orders in the area Jan. 4-19. Orders may also be placed by contacting cookie chairman Alice Holmes at

Money earned by troops will pay for camping weekends, field trips and summer activities. Council profits will provide programs such as drug-and alcohol abuse prevention, career exploration, financial aid to underprivileged girls and the further development and maintenance of Camp Ita Kana, the 339-acre Girl Scout camp near Wiggins.

Last year more than $100,000 was earned by troops councilwide by selling 25,902 cases, or 319,113 boxes—that's 9,576,581 Girl Scout cookies!

Top sellers in Bay-Waveland last year were Bethany Neson of BaySide Park, Stephanie Pursley of Bay St. Louis and Libby Ferry of Waveland, Total cases sold in Bay-Waveland were 1,059 cases or 12,708

The history of the Girl Scout cookie sale dates back to the Depression. Girl Scouting founder Juliette Gordon Lowe realized the organization would need to be as self-supporting as possible if it were to flourish.

The first Girl Scout cookies were baked by Mrs. Lowe and her early charges in their own kitchens and sold on the streets of Savannah, Ga.

From those beginnings, the sale grew into the multi-million dollar enterprise it is today, grossing nearly one half million. dollars in the Gulf Pines Coun-cil alone in 1990.

The "Thin Mint" (chocolate mint cookie with dark chocolate coating) is the top-selling cookie locally, closely followed by the "Samoa" (a caramel, coconut and chocolate cookie).

Five other flavors are also sold—the shortbread "Trefoil," peanut butter patty "Tag-along," oatmeal peanut butter creme "Do-Si-Do," and new this year, the vanilla and lemon creme "Chalets" and the "Trail Mix," an oatmeal cookie with chocolate chips, nuts, raisins, fruit and sunflower seeds.

Cookies will be delivered during the two weeks after Valen-

I have examined the statement of assets and fund balance - cash basis of the Post 58 Fire Protection District as of September 30, 1990, and the related statemant of revenue, expendituree, and changes in fund balance - cash basis for the year then ended. My examihationwas made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

As described in the notes to the financial statements, the District's policy is to prepare its financial statements on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements; consequently, revenues are recorded when received rather than when earned, and expenditures are recorded when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred. Accordingly, the financial statements are not intended to present financial position and results of operations in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to principles.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the assets and fund balance of the Post 58 Fire Protection District as of September 30, 1990, and its revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balance for the year then ended, prepared on the cash basis of accounting.
